

PRACTICAL SAVINGS

In Mens and Boys
Clothing and Furnishing.

That's the story briefly told but it's good news to Men whose Clothing bill is always going on. We clip off a good part of the price but in no wise at any Sacrifice of Quality.

Our CUSTOMERS who know us know what a liberal proposition this is, every one ought to.

We make this cut in PRICE in order that we may have as little Winter Goods as possible to pack, and also to make room for the handsomest, and highest class line of

Furnishings AND Clothing

Ever brought on here. Permit us to call attention to the fact that you gain nothing by delay, as we cannot cut prices any lower, even later in the season. You still have time to wear out a winter suit at a big reduction in price.

Gen. Dick Taylor Camp U. C. V.
NO. 1265.

G. W. L. DAWSON, Com.
GEO. T. TODD, Adj.

Marshall Chapter U. D. C. through their representatives, Mrs. T. A. Elgin, president, and Mesdames Hudgins, Wells, Fry and DeLisle, arrived in the city at 2 p. m. Thursday 19th, Jan. Gen. Lee's Birthday, and at 7:30, p. m. at the High School Assembly Hall, which was decorated and draped handsomely with the Confederate and U. S. flags, and in the presence of Gen. Dick Taylor Camp No. 1265, U. C. V., and of a large audience, and after beautiful music and addresses by Mrs. T. A. Elgin, president, and Geo. T. Todd, adj. of this Camp, and a poem by Col. H. Welch, Insp. Gen. of Texas Department G. A. R., which was a graceful tribute to the old Confederates and their flag, and to Jackson, Hampton, Gordon, Dick Taylor and R. E. Lee. Mrs. Elgin then delivered crosses of Honor to the following applicants: B. J. Benefield, Davis Biggs, Dr. A. G. Clopton, G. W. L. Dawson, W. F. Driskell, Z. Daugherty, E. H. Dobbins, P. Eldridge, John A. Fiedler, W. F. Jones, W. C. Jones, Geo. W. Hudson, T. N. Lockett, T. L. Lyon, J. S. Massey, W. J. Sedberry, C. J. Simmons, G. T. Todd, and J. Woodson.

MRS. ELGIN'S ADDRESS.

Ladies and Gentlemen, Veterans and Sons of Veterans:

It is my great privilege to offer greetings and welcome to this distinguished assembly, on this day, fraught with solemn thoughts and inspiring messages from lips long silent. There is not a heart before me this hour, that does not thrill at the name of Robert E. Lee, it stands, for all that is noble, magnanimous, valiant and true, he has left a sacred in memoriam on the tablets of time that will endure when monuments are dust, and marble wears away.

We might review his career as a soldier, "When forth from its scabbard, pure and bright flashed the sword of Lee," But it is a theme familiar to every heart that loved the lost cause, to every heart whose memory guards the Sentinel in Gray. Neither shall we attempt to portray him as the knight without fear or reproach, whose royal qualities made him loved, respected, yes, almost adored by the brave hearts that followed him through the vicissitudes of those four eventful years.

"When forth from its scabbard high in air

Beneath Virginia's sky
Gleamed the sword of Lee,
And they who saw it gleaming there
And knew who bore it, knelt to swear
That where that sword led they would dare

To follow and to die."
We would not fill our greeting with matters too weighty almost too serious for the present occasion, but as a man we fain would think of Lee for a few moments to day. How unselfishly he wielded his wonderful executive ability in the cause he adopted.

It was not only as the head of armed hosts that Lee was a leader; he was a leader of men in the grandest, broadest sense; he stood erect in the presence of defeat as he did when thousands hailed him victor; intellectual and cultured he was able to meet defeat with no less heroism than face the foe. Among the great men our country has produced, none surpassed Lee, in noble, honest, manhood; he is not less a moral than a military hero; of him it may be truly said, he has left "footprints on the sands of time" worthy of our imitation.

Go, Glory and forever guard
Our chieftains hallowed dust,
An honor keep eternal ward,
And fame be this, thy trust;
Go with your bright, emblazoned scroll
And tell the years to be the first of
Names that flash your roll,
Is our great Robert Lee.
Bestowal of Crosses of Honors,
As your names are called by Adj. Todd you will please step forward and receive your "Southern Crosses of Honor" pinned to your bosom by "The Daughters of the Confederacy." Wear it worthily, and in honor to the great cause for which you so nobly fought, and in memory of those dear comrades who have "crossed over the river."

A Delayed Item.

The annual entertainment of the 1881 Club of Jefferson was given at the handsome suburban home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Sedberry, and was pronounced by all one of the most enjoyable affair ever given by the Club.

A most unique and interesting program was carried out, after which delicious refreshments were served.

The spacious home was beautifully and artistically decorated with many graceful sprays of wild smilax, and was indeed an inviting place for the beauty and chivalry of the little city were present.

Sweet strains of music by the home band through the entire evening added greatly to the enjoyment of all present, while those who wished indulged in the pleasure of dancing.
